Nonevlesly the brave wareos walkt twoserd the room. Alice was first she was the yongest but the bravest. Alice had pale skin and hair as blond and shiny as the sun. Logon was second but that didn't stop him. He had cristal green eye's and blond hair with frecols too. Therd was Milly with brow glassy hair and bright blue eye's with tans skin. last Louie, he had blue eye's and blond hair. He could be rely Nouves when it comes to thing's like this.

In a instont Milly terend to Alice and wisperd "Alice you go first and open the door" "But I am sceard" wisperd Alice "Nonsens" replid Milly, "grab that hammer and open the door. The was no chance for the others to showt infact thay wodent look at Alice becose thay all thort she was so brave but she wasent that brave tho. The plan was in place. The woreose knew what thay had to do. But not everyone was intiely shor what they wanted to do it for. Thay oveously felt nervous. It was all up to them now.

Heats pounding as fast as a shoking star the gang walked into the blood filed room 13. It took a breif second or two for their eye's to adjust to the darkness of the hell hole. The demon's cofen lay of them looking as inposing as mont everes the biggest monen I know of. The blood hovering best lay in side. His skin refleted open them with his blood red eye's. Blood dripping down his face with a grin shadows danced and laughed across the room as if they were on a merry-go-round. And Milly's torch flickered but that didn't stop them. Instantly Alice picked up the stake and brought it up to her shoulder and got into position. Logan picked up the cross and got on his knees and held it in the air. Milly got the torch and got on her hands and knees next to Logan and shined it up in the air but mostly directed at the coffin. Louie opened the coffin and hid behind Alice when suddenly the vampire's eyes flickered. At last the beast awoke. They all looked away in horror. Alice walked towards the coffin and at last finally Alice was the one, she killed the one and only Dracula. They did it.
